1. Aims

The aims of relationships and sex education (RSE) at our school are to:

- › Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place
- › Prepare pupils for puberty, and give them an understanding of sexual development and the importance of health and hygiene
- › Help pupils develop feelings of self-respect, confidence and empathy
- › Create a positive culture around issues of sexuality and relationships
- › Teach pupils the correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies

2. Statutory requirements

As a secondary academy school we must provide RSE to all pupils as per section 34 of the Children and Social work act 2017.

In teaching RSE, we are required by our funding agreements to have regard to guidance issued by the secretary of state as outlined in section 403 of the Education Act 1996.

This policy has due regard for the Equality Act 2011 whereby the policy's actions advance equality of opportunity, foster good relations and seek to eliminate discrimination for all members of the school community.

At Poole Grammar School we teach RSE as set out in this policy.

3. Policy development

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff, pupils and parents. The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

1. Review – a member of staff pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance
2. Staff consultation – all school staff involved with the teaching of PSHE/RSE were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations
3. Parent/stakeholder consultation – parents and any interested parties were invited offer feedback on the policy
4. Pupil consultation – we investigated what exactly pupils want from their RSE
5. Ratification – once amendments were made, the policy was shared with governors and ratified

4. Definition

RSE is about the emotional, social and cultural development of pupils, and involves learning about relationships, sexual health, sexuality, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity.

RSE involves a combination of sharing information, and exploring issues and values.

RSE is not about the promotion of sexual orientation or sexual activity.

5. Curriculum

Our curriculum is set out as per Appendix 1 but we may need to adapt it as and when necessary.

We have developed the curriculum in consultation with parents, pupils and staff, taking into account the age, needs and feelings of pupils along with following the guidelines set out in the . If pupils ask questions outside the scope of this policy, teachers will respond in an appropriate manner so they are fully informed and don't seek answers online.

For more information about our curriculum, see our curriculum map in Appendix 1.

6. Delivery of RSE

RSE is taught within the personal, social, health and economic (PSHE) education curriculum. Biological aspects of RSE are taught within the science curriculum, and other aspects are included in religious education (RP).

At Poole Grammar School all students will follow a diverse and comprehensive series of lessons that aim to cover not only the biological aspects of sex education, but also the risks and emotional challenges involved.

Relationships and Sex Education is taught in every year group, via PSHE sessions, using resources provided by local and national sexual health teams. Year 10 and Year 11 students also complete a short course of 4 lessons (2 in each year) led by the MARS Trust which focuses on developing the communication and conversational skills that encourage healthy relationships. In the Sixth form relationships education continues by looking at healthy relationships.

In Biology Year 7 students learn about structure and function of the male and female reproductive systems, the menstrual cycle, sexual intercourse, the stages of pregnancy and birth. These topics are re-visited in more detail in the Year 11 biology course. The focus is on the anatomy and physiology of sex rather than the emotional and relationship aspects.

In the Autumn term Years 8, 10 and 12 will participate in sessions delivered by the Dorset Police Safer Schools and Communities Team (SSCT) on keeping safe online and managing their digital presence. In the Spring term, Years 8-11 will participate in sessions delivered by the SSCT on Child Sexual Exploitation.

RSE focuses on giving young people the information they need to help them develop healthy, nurturing relationships of all kinds including:

- › Families
- › Respectful relationships, including friendships
- › Online and media
- › Being safe
- › Intimate and sexual relationships, including sexual health

For more information about our RSE curriculum, see Appendices 1 and 2.

These areas of learning are taught within the context of family life taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBT parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children or young carers).

7. Roles and responsibilities

7.1 The governing board

The governing board will approve the RSE policy, and hold the headteacher to account for its implementation.

7.2 The headteacher

The headteacher is responsible for ensuring that RSE is taught consistently across the school, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from non-science components of RSE (see section 8).

7.3 Staff

Staff are responsible for:

- › Delivering RSE in a sensitive way
- › Modelling positive attitudes to RSE
- › Monitoring progress
- › Responding to the needs of individual pupils
- › Responding appropriately to pupils whose parents wish them to be withdrawn from the non-science components of RSE

Staff do not have the right to opt out of teaching RSE. Staff who have concerns about teaching RSE are encouraged to discuss this with the headteacher.

Staff responsible for the teaching of PSHE and RSE at Poole Grammar School are:

- › Sarah Bladen (Acting Head of PSHE)
- › Mark Hayward (Head of PSHE)
- › Elizabeth Page (Teacher)
- › Helen Edwards (Teacher)
- › Meg Bell (Teacher, Head of Art)

7.4 Pupils

Pupils are expected to engage fully in RSE and, when discussing issues related to RSE, treat others with respect and sensitivity.

8. Parents' right to withdraw

Parents have the right to withdraw their children from the non-science components of sex education within RSE up to and until 3 terms before the child turns 16. After this point, if the child wishes to receive sex education rather than being withdrawn, the school will arrange this.

The sex education component of the RSE Curriculum are those areas covered in the "Intimate and sexual relationships, including sexual health" part of Appendix 2 – By the end of secondary school students should know.

Students cannot be legally withdrawn from the aspects of sex education that are taught as part of the national and statutory science curriculum (they may only be withdrawn from the aspects of sex education that are taught as part of the RSE Curriculum).

Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 3 of this policy and addressed to the headteacher.

A copy of withdrawal requests will be placed in the pupil's educational record. The headteacher will discuss the request with parents and take appropriate action.

Alternative, appropriate and purposeful work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from sex education.

There is no right to withdraw from Relationships Education or Health Education.

9. Training

Staff are trained on the delivery of RSE as part of their induction to teaching PSHE/RSE and it is included in our continuing professional development calendar.

The school will also invite visitors from outside the school, such as school nurses or sexual health professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching RSE.

10. Monitoring arrangements

The monitoring of the delivery of RSE carried out by the Head of PSHE and falls under the portfolio of the Deputy Head for Inclusion and Wellbeing

Monitoring will be carried out through planning scrutinies, learning walks, pupil feedback, parent voice and comparisons with national guidelines

Pupils' development in RSE is monitored by class teachers as part of our internal assessment systems.

This policy will be reviewed by the Head of PSHE biannually. At every review, the policy will be approved by the governing board.
